The indebtedness of Napoleon corporation foots up about $16,000—$12,000 in bonds and some $4,000 judgment against the corporation in favor of Berdan of Toledo. $2,000 of this debt is drawing 8 per cent. interest; $3,000 7 per cent. and $5,000 6 per cent. The Council is talking of refunding the entire debt at a lower rate of interest, which can no doubt be done, saving at least 2 per cent. interest.

Hon. J. H. Tyler reports that he raised 57 1/2 bushels of wheat to the acre on his farm this year, and 48 bu. of oats to the acre. And this is a sample of the reports coming in from all over the county. When such crops as these can be raised right here in Henry county, with a good market, then what folly it is for people to talk about picking up and going West. Let good enough alone.

Considerable excitement was occasioned on our town Wednesday last. Shortly after noon a dryman, Theo. Walker by name, was seen to drive from the depot with about one hundred mysterious looking packages loaded on his dray. Our marshal, whose suspicions were aroused, followed him until he brought up in rear of Saur's drug store, where he began to unload, who lo and behold, the mysterious packages were found to contain one of the finest assortments of wall papers and decorations ever brought to Napoleon. Yes, reader, ten thousand rolls of wall paper and just been received at Saur's drug store and must be closed out in the next 30 days at prices that will astonish you. Don't fail to call and secure bargains.

An exchange says: When you see a young man sitting in a parlor, with the ugliest six year old boy that ever frightened himself in a mirror, climbing over his knees, jerking his white necktie out of knot, muzzing his white vest, kicking his shoes, feeling in all his pockets for nickels, bombarding him from time to time with various bits of light furniture, calling him names at the top of his fustian lungs, and yelling incessantly for him to come out into the yard and play, while the unresisting victim smiles all the time like the cover on a comic almanac, you may safely bet, although there isn't a sign of a girl apparent in a radius of 10,000 miles, your bottom dollar that howling boy has a sister who is primping in a room not twenty feet away, and that the young man doesn't come there just for the fun of playing with her brother.

Small Blaze. Last Saturday evening about 9:30 o'clock the alarm of fire was given, and investigation proved it to be only too true. The fire originated in the heading dry kiln of Mr. L. Trowbridge's stove factory. The kiln was filled with heading, and notwithstanding the faithfulness of the entire fire department, it was quite late in the morning before the fire was extinguished. The kiln being built of brick was not damaged to any great extent, but the entire stock of heading was destroyed. Insured.

A Successful Business Career. Hon. S. M. Heller has retired from active business, and has just disposed of his entire extensive stock of merchandise, selling to the Shoemaker Brothers, who will continue the business in all of its branches at the old business place.

Mr. Heller is one of the pioneer business men of Northwestern Ohio, and by many years the senior merchant of Napoleon. He was born in Jaromiesville, Wayne county, O., and with his parents came to Hancock county in 1832. After receiving a good common school education, he took his first lesson in merchandising under his brother, W. L. Heller, then doing business at Van Buren in the latter county. In 1850 he engaged in business for himself with no capital but the savings of his own earnings. For thirty-six years he has continuously conducted a flourishing and most successful business, almost wonderfully so when the many financial disturbances and complications occurring during this time is taken into consideration, while business failures during this period amounted to 90 per cent. Mr. Heller has never for one hour closed his doors and has always promptly paid one hundred cents on the dollar. Another fact which speaks much for Mr. H. is worthy of mention: During his entire business life he has never foreclosed a mortgage nor purchased any real estate at Sheriff sale; and in the collection of his dues, has never distressed any poor man or woman, but has contributed to the relief of many.

In 1860 he located in Napoleon, and until the outbreak of the war, in 1861, was associated with Gen. R. K. Scott, and ever since has been the head of and conducted the large business house in the county, and one of the most complete establishments in Northwestern Ohio.

During this active business life he has found time, and possessed the energy and enterprise, to erect several of the largest and best business buildings in this section of the State, and one of the most elegant residences. He has ever been among the foremost in public enterprise, and to him the town is greatly indebted for its completeness, beauty and prosperity.

Politically, Mr. Heller has belonged to the party of the people, and twice represented the counties of Putnam and Henry in the State Legislature. In 1876 he was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Presidential elector, and has always been a prominent and active member of that party, being zealously supported by a strong following for member of Congress in 1878, when the Hon. W. D. Hill was first nominated.

Financially, Mr. Heller is well fixed, and he is abundantly able to take that rest needed and deserved by an active life when at his age.

In his retirement from active business, which will not abridge his energy in contributing to public enterprise and welfare, Mr. Heller takes and deserves the good wishes of all who know him best.

J. N. Coming to Assume All, Saturday night, August 7th, at City Hall.

He will lift the veil on that night at City Hall, if the people assemble to hear him. In a note from Athens J. N. gives greetings to his many friends in Napoleon, and still persists that if no praise whatever is given to him, or personal notices, this all given to his friends, and he is known only by the initials J. N. the mysterious and semi-electrical and mental veil which has been so destructive of reason for over one-third of a century will be fully mastered and divided all alike. J. N. thinks that the kind people of Napoleon can not only now assemble, but Marion Defiance, Toledo, and all other places where he was treated so kindly before truth had gained an ascendancy over force, veil and prejudice, J. N. will lift the veil at the city hall on Saturday night, July 7th, subject: "Truth and its Mysteries, and How Little We Know." To sustain his cause, a small admission fee of 10 cents will be thankfully received from the men; ladies free, and cordially invited to attend. If the kind people of Napoleon are not ready to assemble, J. N. will make it later, for he is determined that this reaction in favor of truth and against prejudice, shall come slowly, gradually and surely, and thus vindicate the cause of which he is the humble representative.

J. N. is attached to Napoleon and desires a large crowd so he can assume all prejudices which truth creates when first promulgated. Remember!

Miller & Ketchum does not offer a bonus to get rid of their work, it is sure to please. Try them and be convinced. 1t
